Just Another Cold Cure

That rustling noise you hear over in the pine trees the other side of Prescott is the advance guard of the faithful getting ready to set up camp for the annual State Fox Hunt which opens Monday, October 27, at Lockland Springs, Nevada.

War With Japan Is Inevitable

Knox Asserts

Navy Secretary Says U. S. Must Keep Russia in the War

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary Knox said Friday that a collision in the Far East was "virtually inevitable."

"The situation in the Far East is extremely strained," he told a group of naval munitions manufacturers.

The secretary said that we are "satisfied in our own minds that Japan does not intend to give up plans for further expansion and if they pursue this course a collision there is inevitable."

This description of conditions involving the U. S. and Japan, coming from a cabinet member after weeks of Washington-Tokyo settlement conferences, was prompted by a discussion of ways by which munitions can be delivered to Russia.

Knox said that he had just hurried away from a conference—he did not say with whom—in which British and Russian needs of war materials had been stressed.

He said that manufacturers must speed up production.

"Keeping the Russian army fighting is one of the most vitally important things we have to do in this war," the secretary asserted.

Three ways of getting supplies to Russia were named by Knox; across the north Atlantic to Archangel, across the Pacific to the Far East port of Vladivostok and down through the North Atlantic and around Africa to Persia.

The Archangel route, he said, is the best of the three despite the handicaps imposed by its extreme northern location. The port can be kept open only by the use of ice breakers and this means slow moving for ships which make easy marks for the German bombers.

The Far East situation, he said, makes the continued use of the Vladivostok route questionable and means "a risk not to be preferred equally with Archangel."

Nazis Shoot 50 More Hostages

Total 100 Frenchmen Shot for Killing Nazi Officers

VITCHY—(AP)—Fifty French hostages died before a firing squad wall Friday in a 50 to 1 forfeit for the assassination of German officer at Bordeaux—the second such measure of retaliation within three days.

At the same time 50 additional hostages at Bordeaux and 50 still alive at Nantes out of 100 selected for execution in reprisal for the killing of a German officer there won brief reprieves while the Germans gave additional time for the capture or surrender of the actual assassin.

News today from Bordeaux meant that a total of 100 hostages had already been put to death, evenly divided for the assassination of the Nantes and Bordeaux officers. Fifty were executed Wednesday.

If the full measure of reprisal is carried out this would make a ratio of 100 lives for 1.

The executions at Bordeaux brought to 184 the number of hostages killed for the assassination of 5 German officers during the occupation period.

Both Teams to Be After First Conference Win

Panthers Hold 10-Pound Weight Advantage Over Local Grid Team

Friday night at 8 o'clock two ill-fated Arkansas conference teams, the Hope Bobcats and Clarksville Panthers, will tangle at Hammock Stadium.

Both will be seeking their first conference win.

On paper the Bobcats are again, as in every game this season, the underdogs. But reports from the practice session this week say the Cats have been pointing to Clarksville as the most likely chance to win a conference contest.

Other Bobcat conference foes are three of the strongest teams in the state, Blytheville, North Little Rock and Pine Bluff.

The Clarksville boys hold a 10 pound weight advantage over the Bobcats. The two backfields are even at 153 pounds each while the Panther line tops the scales at 165 as compared with 151 for the Hope line.

Clarksville boasts a couple of heavy line-men in left tackle Rowe, who weighs 203 pounds and center McSwain who lugs 198 pounds. The biggest lad in the Hope lineup is left end McCullough who weighs 170 pounds.

Clarksville has lost to Blytheville, Camden and Hot Springs while Hope has lost to Haynesville, La., Smackover, El Dorado, Jonesboro and Nashville. The locals defeated Texarkana 12-7 for their only win.

Both teams are reported to be in good condition.

The Song of Bread

A man said in a prose poem that smacked of semi-Biblical beauty and truth:

"Love bread, heart of the home, savor of the peasant, joy of health; 'Respect bread, sweat of the brow, pride of labor, poem of sacrifice; 'Honor bread, glory of the fields, fragrance of the earth, feast of life; 'Do not waste bread, richness of the fatherland, sweetest gift of God, most holy reward of human toil.'"

And his people believed him. They knew the truth of what he said long before he said it. For centuries upon centuries the peasant people carefully tilled their fields, sowed the wheat, reaped the harvest, turned it into flour, baked it into bread, made it the true stuff of life not only for themselves, but for the poor and humble workers in the congested cities.

A little bread, a little wine, a little freedom was all the people asked. Then the man took their freedom away from them. But still they had their bread and their wine. Still they were fairly content, for they had peace with their simple meals.

Then the man took their peace away from them. He sent their sons into battles on the sea, on the land and in the air. They grieved, for they did not want the war. But still they had their bread.

Then the man took part of their bread away from them. He said the war made it necessary. He reminded them of the slogan he had painted and carved all over the country: "Work, obey, fight."

Still the people, the older people, worked and obeyed, while their sons fought. But there was hollowness in their stomachs and concealed bitterness and rebellion in their hearts.

The people are the Italians. The man is Mussolini. Hunger and privation and suffering and wounds and death are the price the people are paying to have a Mussolini.

Viewed from the air, the Bahamas look like a series of stepping stones from 50 miles off the coast of Florida to Cuba.

Japanese Claim Ship 'Sardine' Record

DAIREN, Kuantung Leased Territory — (AP) — Japanese shipping circles here claim to hold the world's record for transporting the largest number of human beings in a single ship.

They say they carried 8,400 Chinese laborers from Tsingtao, China, in a single trip of the 6,000-ton Paris Maru.

U. S. to Build More Tanks

Huge Production Increase Indicated by President

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Withholding figures President Roosevelt announced Friday that the program of production for armed forces would be approximately doubled at once.

The chief executive told a press conference that the projected expansion was a part of over-all revision of the defense picture but the rest of it, he said, will not be ready until later in the fall or perhaps when congress meets in January.

Roosevelt would not say what the present tank program calls for nor what increase would be provided. "That," he said, "would be information which the Axis would like to have."

"It does call for many thousands more tanks along with certain items of ordnance relating to them," the President said.

The principal reason for the decision to make tremendous increases in the tank output, it was disclosed, grew from some used experience in North Africa last year.

He said that some new factories would have to be built and that production in those already operating would have to be stepped up.

It was reminded that Knudsen, director of OPM, had mentioned a goal of some 2,000 medium tanks monthly and Roosevelt said the new program went far beyond the old one.

He emphasized that the tanks would go only to our own armed forces and that they were distinguished from those made in the lend lease program.

The tank program originally outlined a year ago was believed adequate at that time, Roosevelt said, but asserted that developments in the use of tanks showed the need of expansion.

The original program is in full swing now, he said, and deliveries are being made.

Scouting Head Rotary Speaker

Eugene Swearingen, Field Executive, Talks on Friday

Eugene Swearingen, of Nashville, Southwest Arkansas field secretary for the Boy Scouts of America, spoke to Hope Rotary club at its Friday noon luncheon in the recreation room of First Christian church.

Mr. Swearingen was introduced by Frank Ward, in charge of the club program, as a feature of the annual Boy Scout drive now under way here, seeking to raise $900 for the Hempstead county Boy Scout district budget.

Scouting musters 1½ million boys, Mr. Swearingen said, and existed in 52 countries before the war, although the organization has been destroyed in the countries conquered by Hitler.

Henry Stillwell, Texarkana, and William R. James, Little Rock, were also club guests.

War at Sea

Ships, war vessels and merchantmen have always had a part in the world's wars, as the conflicts spread from land onto the waters. Can you navigate a correct course to the answers to these questions about ships and war?

1. What was the first U. S.-owned ship sunk near Iceland after President Roosevelt's "piracy" speech, and what two sinkings of American-owned vessels in the north Atlantic preceded it?

2. In what war did the Monitor and the Merrimack fight, and where?

3. What warship sinking in 1898 presaged a slogan and a war?

Human Interest Story in Wake of Torpedoed U. S. S. Kearny

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
CLEVELAND, O. — Eleven "next of kin" received the "missing" telegram.

"The Navy Department deeply regrets . . . U. S. S. Kearny . . . torpedoed . . ."

A mother in California, one in Caroline, Mrs. Doknikar in Cleveland. Her three sons are in the Navy. Louis, water tender, second class, was on the Kearny. He is missing.

"At present the department has nothing but bare facts . . . will let you know . . ."

What does the paper say? His picture — there. See? Eighteen years a sailor! The radio. Could we call Washington? Another broadcast at 4 o'clock? It is this waiting . . . this waiting . . .

Mrs. Jenny Dobnikar is small and gray and severely, his brown, work-worn, weathered skin and bright Balkan eyes speaks little English. She lives in two small rooms at the back of a shingled house in northeast Cleveland, on a narrow street that is putty colored with industrial smoke. It is the money her three sailor sons send so regularly that keeps her comfortable here, and the presents and pictures they send that have kept her proudly happy.

Enter by the kitchen. It is crowded. There are Yugoslavian friends, some who have known her since she came from the old country when the country was just beginning. They are speaking in Slovenian.

There is Mrs. Bandeleon from the Navy Mothers' Club. "We were all so frightened . . . and it was to have been such a nice Navy Day Monday, marching to the square and all . . ."

There is Mrs. Edward Davis. "My Ozzie knows well her boys and Louis comes by us only last time he is home," she says, her Lithuanian accent soft with sympathy.

The three married daughters, bright pretty, their light make-up streaked with tears, take wraps, pour coffee, spin radio dials, stroke their mother's shoulder with nervous fingers.

"I suppose the boys know . . ."

"John is a 3rd class chief petty officer on a ship at Hawaii," explains Louise. "He'll be a warrant officer some day!"

And Marie: "Frank is the youngest in Washington now, after Iceland on a destroyer. An electrical engineer at the Navy school there. Second class, soon to be first!" They are so proud of the boys.

"But Louis . . . Jean begins to cry again. "Maybe he is trapped in one of the boiler rooms?"

"Just missing, it reads. Maybe still alive!"

It does not matter that you do not know what Mrs. Dobnikar is saying because her eyes and their tears are telling you. The voice is telling you, making lachrymose music of the grief it speaks in Slovenian, sob-broken, mournful, the strange words rising from a gentle moan to ride the crest of a wail, to break there, to begin again in low, bewildered tones.

But most of all it is the hands that tell you. Like lost brown birds they fly in sorrow to her tired brown face. She rubs them sorrowfully together.

"My Louis!" she cries. "Bring 'im home!" And the brown hands tell her rosary that tomorrow there will be candles to the Virgin. "My boys . . . keep them safe . . ."

"She prayed all night," whispers Jean.

"He always said, 'Pray for me, mama,'" whispers Louise.

Their mother mutters something, rubbing the brown hands along her lap as if to warm them.

"She is saying Louis did not think he would see her again when he was home last summer," whispers Marie.

"She is saying," whispers Jean, the tears starting—"she is saying Louis was always afraid the fish would get him . . ."

"A picture Louis sent from Rio de Janeiro," says Jean, pointing to a Last Supper by the crucifix above the metal bed. The names are in Spanish—pedro, Joao, Jacobi, Philippe. That-bound when sunk?

Both Germany, Russia Report Huge Losses

Russians Admit Situation Alarming in Ukraine Sector

By the Associated Press
Soviet front line dispatches acknowledged that the situation was alarming in all sectors on the Ukraine front Friday with heavy fighting raging on the approaches to Rostov-on-Don while claims from both sides listed the staggering totals of more than 10 million killed and wounded in the 4-months campaign.

Although the Red army appeared to be holding firmly before Moscow a grave new danger to Russia's vital war frontiers on the southern front were emphasized in reports to the army news publication, Red Star.

The newspapers reported bloody hand-to-hand fighting with immense losses around Stalino, 100 miles northwest of Rostov and at nearby Makeevka with the Germans hurling great masses of tanks and troops into a drive to engulf the entire Donets river industrial basin.

Situation Critical
"The situation on all principal sectors of the southern front remains critical," Red Star said. Pravda sounded the same note.

In Berlin the authoritative commentary Dienst aus Deutschland even went so far as to say that liberation of the "Donets basin is eminent."

German conquest of the Donets basin would in all likelihood precipitate the long awaited hour of British troops entering the conflict at Russia's side.

The Russians declared officially that several hundred thousand Germans had already been killed in the 23-day-old drive on Moscow and that losses in four months equaled the total casualties suffered by Kaiser Wilhelm's imperial armies in the four years of the World War.

According to U. S. State Department figures German losses were put at 1,773,700 killed and 4,216,058 wounded in the 1914-18 conflict—a total of 5,989,758.

DNB, the official German news agency, quickly followed this claim with reports of destruction of more than 260 Soviet Divisions—approximately 3,900,000 to 4,630,000 men—in the campaign up to September 1.

North Thrust Stopped
Pravda reported a new German thrust south of Leningrad had been thrown back with at least 2,500 killed or wounded and said the Red army had recaptured two villages of Velya and Kholmly.

"They have not taken and will not take Moscow," said S. A. Lozovsky, official Red spokesman.

Nevertheless Stalin delegated two of his key marshals to form new Red armies and dispatches acknowledged that Moscow's position was grave.

The British radio quoted Pravda reports as saying:

"Today Moscow is in danger. We shall never surrender. We must be prepared to see the streets of the city become the bloody battlefield."

Lozovsky said that the Germans were still more than 60 miles from the capital, countering official German claims of Thursday that Nazi spearheads were only 35 miles from the city.

Starting notice that Russia would never quit he told newsmen that Marshal Budyenny and Marshal Kliment Voroshilov had withdrawn from the battlefield and had already begun organizing new armies from the vast resources of Soviet manpower.

"Hitler promised to end the war before winter and then attack England, he has failed in both," Lozovsky said.

"We fully realize the gravity of the situation but the government and the people will fight to the end."

He said the Soviet high council and Premier Stalin remained at their posts in Moscow.

John Martin Visits in Old Home Town

John Martin, Hope boy who left here 10 years ago, returned home Thursday with Mrs. Martin and their son on a 48-hour visit with Mr. Martin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Martin, North Elm street. Mr. Martin is with the Austin Road company, Dallas, Texas, constructing roads and airports. The Martins will return to Dallas Saturday.

England had no stone buildings until 680 A. D., when, it is recorded, an abbot imported stone masons and glaziers.

Sunday School Lesson

Welfare and Happiness Require
More International Temperance
Text: Habakkuk 2:12-17
Isaiah 28:1-6; Habakkuk 2:12

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

This lesson is for International Temperance Sunday. The fact that so large a part of the world is at war, and that even in countries where alcoholism has been a serious problem, the chief problem of millions is now that of getting food and drink for normal sustenance, does not minimize the need of stressing international temperance.

"The Long Week End," which is a social history of Great Britain from 1918-1938, presents among other things a picture of night club life and all its accompaniments which might well be a picture of what has been happening in our own country. In fact, it is a somewhat sad reflection upon us that much of this moral debacle in Great Britain has been called the "Americanization of England."

The three passages from various portions of the Bible, which constitute our lesson, indicate how valuable a text book the Bible still is for the inculcation of temperance. Strong drink made its ravages in the ancient world as it makes its ravages today. The story of the effect of intemperance upon the individual and upon society has been practically the same in every age and among every people. The woe that the prophet Isaiah pronounced to the drunkards of Ephraim is the same woe that falls upon the drunkards of America and of other lands today.

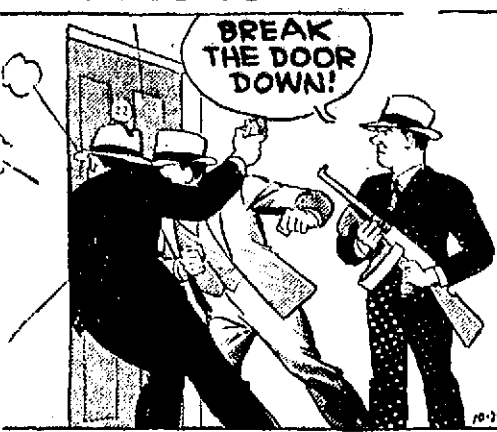

Nor is the cause of temperance one that stands alone. The three great enemies of human welfare and happiness have been slavery, war, and strong drink. Today war is the innermost of these enemies, with slavery threatening vast portions of mankind, if the totalitarian powers, who have declared that might makes right and who have plunged the world in war, have their way.

It is this situation that gives both point and large application to the single verse in our lesson from the prophecy of Habakkuk: "Woe to him that buildeth a town with blood, and establisheth a city by iniquity!" Too much in the life of every people today is still established by iniquity and built on blood.

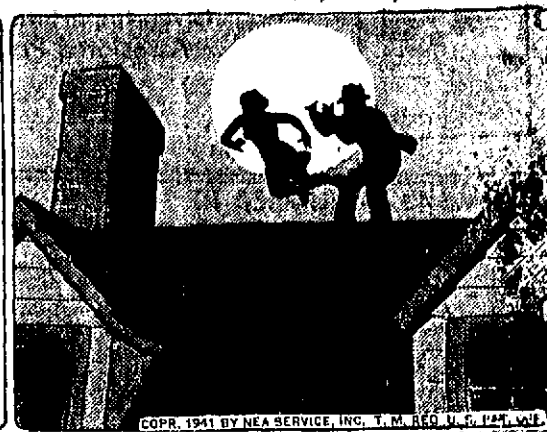

Our own nation will be strong to save the world from its aggressors and the powers that threaten to stifle all democracy and liberty only in proportion as we make our personal lives and our social life clean and strong, building upon a sure foundation in the things that to a large extent have been built upon greed, selfishness, indulgence in vice, and all manner of unrighteousness and iniquity.

Gasoline enough for five automobile trips around the world can be carried by one type of large bomber being manufactured for U. S. defense.

Monday, October 27th
Unit No. 1 of the Women's Auxiliary of Saint Mark's Episcopal church will meet at the home of Mrs. A. L. Black at 3:30 o'clock.

Announcements

Because of the cooperation of the public, the rummage sale sponsored by the Junior-Senior High school P. T. A. was acclaimed by the members of the finance committee to be quite successful. Another sale will be given by the organization Saturday morning in front of the White House annex. All persons having saleable goods are asked to contribute again to committee.

All persons who plan to enter exhibits here during National Art week, November 17-18, are asked to contact Mrs. R. A. Boyett, 608 S. Main.

Miss Louise Hanegan Is Hostess To Girls Cotillion Club

Fifteen members of the Girls Cotillion club met at the home of the president, Miss Louise Hanegan, Thursday evening for the regular business meeting of the month. Plans were made and committees appointed for an informal Halloween dance to be given at the Country Club October 31. A luncheon honoring the new members will be given November 2.

J. A. Henry Home Is Scene of Class Party

Festive Halloween decorations were effectively used in the home of Mrs. J. A. Henry on Thursday evening when she entertained the members of the Edith Thompson class of the First Methodist church. Black and orange appointments were used in the living room, while a color scheme of red was observed in the decorations used in the dining room.

During the meeting a brief business session was held with Mrs. Dolphus Whitten, Sr., the past president of the class presiding. At this time new officers for the class were elected.

Mrs. Henry directed various games and contests appropriate for this season. A delicious salad course with sandwiches and fruit punch was served to 27 members and two visitors, Mrs. M. M. McCloughan and Mrs. Don Smith.

October Meeting of the Lilac Club Is Held Thursday

Mrs. Harry Phipps and Mrs. Ted Jones were hostesses to the members of the Lilac Garden club at the home of the former on Thursday afternoon. Sixteen members attended this first meeting of the autumnal season.

In the flower contest, Mrs. W. G. A. received the vase. A program was presented by Mrs. A. B. Patten, who introduced Mrs. H. F. J. Garrett as the principal speaker. Mrs. Garrett told of the jewel and the flower of the month.

Three state flowers were discussed.

MURDER IN PARADISE

By MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

NEA Service Inc.

THE STORY: The tragedy of two murders at Paradise Lake has renewed the romance between school teacher Mary O'Connor, vacationing there with her mother, Maudie, and reporter Dennis Flynn, sent down from the city to cover the story. But that doesn't make things easier for Maudie, whose stern, strict aunt, Miss Miller, has been beaten to death by Ted Palmer, local editor who is in love with Jeanie, Maudie's daughter. Miss Miller's maid for Mrs. Gordon, elderly landlady, whose business has been hurt by the murder of sophisticated Herbert Cord, Cord had carried on a summer flirtation with Jeanie for two years, and this year embraced her by bringing Maudie to Paradise Lake as a surprise. When a mysterious stranger appears, Maudie's life is in danger. Mary occurs. Dennis returns hastily from the city.

WHAT I HEARD

THE time certainly didn't drag that day, probably because Denny had to leave late that afternoon. He'd checked with the state police and returned with the news that they were still getting nowhere as far as the Morris slaying was concerned.

We didn't have much time together, but I could see that his visit had lifted Maudie's spirits. She had that knowing look in her eyes and when it was time for him to leave she kissed him on the cheek and then pushed the two of us to the back door.

"It's a relief to see you two making calf-eyes at each other again. I hope, Denny Flynn, that you'll use some of that Irish charm this time and save Mary from a life as an old maid school teacher."

Romance was definitely in the air that day. In fact, it carried over into the evening. I went out for a walk after dinner and ended up on the pier to watch the moon rise over the lake. I could see a boat down near the Morris dock and I hoped Jeanie was able to get a little portion of pleasure out of the night, too. The boat drifted slowly down my way and I could see a man and a girl sitting in it. They couldn't have noticed how close they were coming to shore or how their lowered voices carried in the stillness, but I could tell they were Jeanie and Ted Palmer.

"But we hadn't had any fights over him, Ted. She said what she thought—in that bitter, ironical way of hers—and I did as I pleased. The night he—he was killed and we had had the scene in the inn—the night you said I was with you, Ted—I saw her walking home through Echo Grove. It was while I was sitting there in the woods trying to stop crying after Herbert left me."

"I was so surprised because I've never known her to be out walking at that time of night. But I didn't dare stop her. She would have wanted to know why I was there, and so I just waited until she had time to reach home and then I followed along."

"But I think we understood one another pretty well. And we loved there, and the purpose of this ordinance is to impose such license tax and provide a penalty for the violation of this ordinance.

SECTION 2: That slot machines or vending machines, whenever those words appear in this ordinance, shall be construed to mean any machine, device, apparatus, or otherwise, which is operated by placing in the same through a slot or any kind of opening or container, any coin, slug, token, or other such article necessary to insert before such machine operates or functions; provided, however, that this ordinance shall not apply to coin box telephones or machines or devices for registering fares.

SECTION 3: Coin operated amusement games shall include such games as Radio Riffles, Miniature Football, Golf, Basketball, Hockey, Bumper, Tennis, Shooting Galleries, Pool Tables, Bowling and other Miniature games, whether or not it shows a score and not hereinafter excluded in Section 4 hereof, and where the charge for playing is collected by a mechanical device, and the operation of any of said games shall not be construed to be in violation of any of the laws of this City when operated in accordance with the provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION 4: Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to legalize, authorize, license, or permit any machine commonly known as slot machines, Raffles, Jackpots, or any machines equipped with any automatic money pay-off mechanism.

SECTION 5: There is hereby imposed upon the owners, operators, lessors, or upon their agents and receivers, a privilege tax for the operation of slot machines or vending machines or coin operated machines of any kind, including automatic music vending phonographs, which tax shall be paid annually to the City Treasurer of the City of Hope, Arkansas, on the following basis:

On each coin operated penny weighing scale.....$1.00
On each penny gum vender.....1.00
On each United States Stamp vender.....1.00
On each cigarette vender.....2.50
On each combination cigar and cigarette vender.....2.50
On each penny peanut vender.....1.00
On each music vending phonograph.....5.00
On all other coin operated vendors for less than 5 cents.....1.00
On all other coin operated devices for less than 5 cents.....1.00
On all other coin operated vendors for 5 cents or over.....2.50
On all other coin operated devices for 5 cents or over.....2.50
On all coin operated machine with over three slots, for each slot over three.....5.00
On each amusement game.....5.00

From the passage of this ordinance until the beginning of the fiscal year, July 1, 1942, shall be considered the first year, and the annual tax shall be payable in advance on the 1st day of July, beginning July 1, 1942, and each year thereafter. It is the duty of the person desiring the privilege tax to pay the same to the City Treasurer of Hope, Arkansas, and receive a receipt or tag therefore, which should state the period of time said amusement game may be operated and every such machine in operation in the City of Hope, Arkansas, must have attached to the amusement game said in-date tag before being placed in operation or allowed to operate.

SECTION 6: That any machine or amusement game upon which the tax herein specified has not been paid is hereby declared to be a public and common nuisance and may be seized by any of the police of the City of Hope, Arkansas, and condemned by public authority and sold, with the funds thereof to be remitted to the City Treasurer of the City of Hope, Arkansas; provided that the owner of the said machine shall have the privilege of redeeming said machine within ten days from the date of seizure by paying the tax due, and the cost, and the fine for operation without a license.

SECTION 7: All revenue collected under this ordinance shall be deposited in the City Treasury in the City of Hope, Arkansas.

SECTION 8: The City Treasurer shall have the authority to fix rules, regulations and forms for the proper enforcement of this ordinance. Such rules, regulations and forms shall be dated and issued under a systematic method of numbering, and copies made available to any person requesting same. A complete file of all such rules, regulations and forms shall be kept in the office of the City Treasurer.

SECTION 9: Any operator, person, firm or association found guilty of violating any section or sections of this ordinance shall be subject to a penalty of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars for violation thereof. Each day shall constitute a new and separate violation of this ordinance, and each machine or amusement game operated without a permit, or operator operator operating amusement games without first having paid an license tax and secured permits for amusement games operated by such operator, shall be a separate and distinct violation.

SECTION 10: Each section, paragraph, sentence, clause and word of this ordinance shall be severable from the remainder of this ordinance, and if any section, paragraph, sentence, clause, or word shall be held to be unconstitutional, said finding shall not affect the constitutionality of the remainder of this ordinance.

SECTION 11: EMERGENCY CLAUSE. WHEREAS, The revenues of the City of Hope, Arkansas, are being rapidly used, and there is no adequate ordinance in this City defining and regulating slot machines, vending machines and coin operated amusement games; and, WHEREAS, without such ordinance the City of Hope is being deprived of revenue upon such business through the unregulated conduct thereof; and, WHEREAS, The passage of this ordinance is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health, peace, and safety of the inhabitants of this City, NOW, THEREFORE, An emergency is hereby declared, and this ordinance shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage.

PASSED THIS 21st day of Oct. 1941.

'It Started With Eve' at Saenger Theater, Showing Here Sunday

Love Story of Year Enacted in a Gay Mood

Deanna Durbin, Charles Laughton Co-Star in New Comedy, Romance

Having Motion Picture Academy "Oscars" as proof of their artistry, co-stars Deanna Durbin and Charles Laughton of "It Started With Eve," are said to reach new heights as comedy stars in the Universal film opening Sunday at the Saenger theater.

Miss Durbin, winner of a special Academy Award in 1937, and Laughton, who captured an "Oscar" for his title role in "Henry VIII" in 1932, appear together for the first time in the new romantic comedy.

Deanna's nine previous films, particularly the five directed by Henry Koster, have established her as an accomplished comedienne, as well as a romantic singing star. Laughton's "Ruggles of Red Gap" and other comedy portrayals have proved his ability in the comedy line.

Squib on Squid Reveals Secret Of the Deep

HOLLYWOOD — To those skeptics who sneer at legends of the Monster of Loch Ness, I recommend a clear-headed glimpse of Gertie, the Monster of Paramount.

The glimpse, however, should be accompanied by a lecture from Prof. Cecil De Mille or one of Gertie's keepers who created this leviathan of the DT's to impart terror to the underwater sequences of "Reap the Wild Wind."

Zoologically, De Mille's new pet would be called a giant squid, and it is to its little cousin, the octopus, about as a De Mille production is to a Pete Smith short. It has tenacles with a spread of 55 feet, a body nine feet long, and two starling, lidless eyes. The fact that these eyes are blue and eight inches in diameter doesn't make Gertie glamorous.

One look at her and you're ready to believe anything. Especially when she moves.

De Mille's Defense
Of course she's mechanical, but it is not a good idea to suggest that she also may be exaggerated. The producer springs to her defense with a sheaf of scientific reports. He says that until such creatures existed. He shows you where the American Museum of Natural History guesses that Scylla, the great she-dragon of Homer's "Odyssey," was a giant squid. He reads a Smithsonian Institution pamphlet that the tentacles of giant squids, moving near the sea's surface, account for many of the sea-serpent stories.

"A professor named A. E. Verrill," De Mille continues, "describes a giant squid with an 84-foot spread of tentacles. Science News Letter for June 26, 1936, mentions one with a 120-foot spread. So you see, my monster is really a modest little thing."

In "Reap the Wild Wind," Ray Milland and John Wayne encounter Gertie while working in diving suits on a sunken ship. There are no scientific reports about divers surviving battles with giant squid, but you must allow Mr. De Mille some license somewhere.

Squeeze Play
Gertie came high. She cost, he confesses vaguely, a sum in five figures. She also proved an awful headache for Paramount engineers. But she was worth it. Gertie can swim in any direction, roll her eyes, convulse her bulbous body, and put two or three arms around you and squeeze until you holler uncle.

The monster's hide is inch-thick, red sponge rubber. Gives you gooseflesh to touch it. Inside, she's a bewildering jumble of pistons, with pump and motors. The hydraulic pistons, with valves operated by an electric keyboard above the water pull on steel cables within the tentacles to make them move.

The press wasn't allowed to see Gertie actually at work, but responsible parties around the studio are saying that the undersea battle is the doggoned effect since the earthquake in "San Francisco" or the parting of the Red Sea in "The Ten Commandments."

There's a quickie producer here who has been pleading with De Mille to rent Gertie for a few days. The independent opportunist has an idea for a swell thriller. He would like to cast Gertie as a heroine—a pro-British squid that lurks in the North Sea and crushes German submarines.

But De Mille wouldn't dream of allowing Gertie to work for anyone else. She'll just languish in the prop department, or maybe dismantled. If there wasn't a war on, he might send her over to Loch Ness to scare out the monster there.

Air Golfers Lose

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. —(AP)—Stan Hall and W. J. O'Connor dropped golf balls, one each for nine holes, from an airplane at a height of 500 feet. Then they came down and played the balls onto the greens. But C. A. Bradley and Charley Koontz, playing their regular game, won 5-3.

Campero Served Bolivia As Statesman, Soldier

STATESMAN, soldier, lawyer, Narciso Campero ranks among Bolivia's most able leaders. Born in Tojo, Department of Tarija, Oct. 29, 1813, his career is one of service to his country, finally culminating in his election to the presidency.

Campero, who was honored philatelically by his government in the 1902 stamp above, received a law degree from the University of Chuquisaca at the age of 24. He gave up the practice of law, however, for a military career.

He fought as an officer in the Bolivian army in numerous revolutions as well as wars against Argentina (1838) and Peru (1841). He entered diplomatic service in 1845 in the Bolivian Legation at Madrid. He was attached to the French army as military observer, saw service in Africa.

Campero returned to his country to become governor of the Department of Potosi, reached the rank of general in the army in 1865 but was forced into exile by the tyrant Melgarejo.

In 1871 he returned to Bolivia, became secretary of war, then minister to France and England, and finally, in 1880, president of the republic. His regime was generally successful, although he was faced with many difficult problems. He died Aug. 11, 1896.

Dead Shot
McALESTER, Okla. —(AP)—J. A. Brantley, nightwatchman at a lumber company near here, heard a pack of dogs yowling, picked up a rifle and stepped to the door. A moment later a timber wolf raced by. Brantley let fly and the wolf dropped. It measured 5 feet, 4 inches from nose to tail tip.

Prevue Audience Praises 'It Started With Eve'

Advance Showing Seen Thursday by Private Group

"It Started With Eve," new Deanna Durbin and Charles Laughton comedy which opens a three-day run at the Saenger theater Sunday, was given a private screening at the theater Thursday morning to a picked group.

Audience reactions were as follows: WALTER VERHALEN: "One Hundred Men and a Girl" was, I thought, her best. But "It Started With Eve" is even better. Laughton with Deanna makes a wonderful show."

L. B. ROACH, SFG: "A very good picture, with something to it." LT. WALTER R. HOLMSTROM: "It was one of the most enjoyable pictures I've seen."

2ND LT. M. C. FOSTER: "Best of all Deanna's hits." JOHN GRIFFIN, Clerk, War Department: "The cleverest and fastest-moving production of the year."

MRS. JOE R. ADAMS: "The best of Deanna Durbin's pictures. Laughton is exceptionally good."

MRS. ALMA CAMPBELL, Assistant Chief Clerk, SFG: "The first movie I've really enjoyed in months."

MRS. JOE HOUSTON: "Deanna's very best picture of the year. Holds you spell-bound."

MRS. L. M. LILE: "I think it is the best picture she has ever made."

MISS KATHLEEN ROBBINS, Ordnance Department: "All I can say is, it was wonderful."

BOB KAMRATH, Paymaster Clerk, SFG: "An excellent show with lots of human emotion and superb acting by Laughton."

T. S. BLOODWORTH, Chief Clerk to Constructing Quartermaster, SFG: "A wonderfully well-chosen story for good, wholesome entertainment, which is made more enjoyable by the portrayals of character by Charles Laughton and by Deanna Durbin's excellent singing."

Hongkong Bands are Specialists

HONGKONG —(AP)—Defendants in recent criminal cases were real specialists as far as the type of loot appropriated.

Two Chinese faced the magistrate for stealing the iron gates of pill-boxes.

Another man was unable to resist a temptation to annex 29 guinea pigs, injected with serum, from a medical laboratory.

In two cases a macabre tendency was revealed—stealing memorial plaques from the Colonial Cemetery, and removing dental gold from those about to be buried.

An ingenious modus operandi was disclosed when a junk skipper and his mate were hauled up for theft of coal conveyed under contract for the Royal Naval Dockyard. The fuel had been thrown overboard in shallow water during a voyage and later picked up by the crews of other small craft.

The public is gradually getting acquainted with all three.

There will be some doing without. The government experts tell you to make no mistake about that. That wreck in automobile production quotas is only a sample.

There'll also be a nationwide educational campaign to teach Americans isn't making the German form of paper, cloth, burnt grain coffee and adulterated breadstuffs. Economists say we'll continue to have the necessities of life in full, accustomed measure.

It's the non-essentials they're curtailing or substituting. There are only three answers to shirtage problems: (1) substitution; (2) conservation and salvage; (3) doing without.

Jap Soldiers in Indo-China

Occupation Group Finds Their Lot Not a Happy One

SAIGON, French Indo-China—Among those who view Japan's occupation of French Indo-China with deep misgivings are many of the occupying forces.

Particularly, the Japanese huck-private.

There are about 40,000 Japanese troops in Indo-China now, ostensibly to "protect" the big French colony. From what? Some weeks ago, unspecified Japanese quarters reported "evidences" that the British, in nearby Malaya, were preparing to attack Indo-China. The Japanese came, officially, as guardians.

The common soldier will tell you, privately, that the occupying troops may become "rats in a bag," if war breaks in the Pacific. This is a favorite Japanese military expression to describe a trap.

Indo-China is a long way from the nearest Japanese base. Communications inside the sprawling country are poor.

The native population, while unarmored and quiescent today, is basically hostile and potentially dangerous. On one border are the Chinese; on the other, the British. And should the United States fleet enter the picture, the combination could be a very unpleasant bag, indeed, for an unwary rat.

The Japanese soldiers know this. They know they can be cut off. The only avenue of supply and of retreat is the ocean—if they could reach coastal ports, find transports waiting there and their own fleet commanding the sea-lanes.

It's a long and creaky limb to be out on.

The soldiers are largely confined to barracks. When they go sight-seeing, it is usually in groups, with an officer commanding. They are under very strict discipline, respecting civilians, whether French, Chinese or Annamite.

It is quite a different life from the one they knew in China. There are no dance halls in Indo-China, few cheap bars.

Life is not so bad for the officers. The top-rankers have moved into will save 5,000 tons of tin annually, and won't affect quality at all.

One shortage can cause another, too. All available ships are being used to rush tin and rubber from the Orient. That doesn't leave shipping room for tapicoca, normally the second largest shipment from the far east.

Tapicoca is mighty important in industry. Only five per cent of the imports goes into boarding house puddings. The rest is used for adhesives. It is about the best stickum known, is used on stamps and envelopes, and holds the leather layers in shoes together.

Ersatz stickum from corn and potato starch will take the place of tapicoca.

Better in 15 ways than the most popular Pontiac ever built!

SEE THE NEW 1942 Pontiac Sixes AND Eights

with the things you've always liked — and 15 new ones too!

Rapid-Fire Production of Rapid-Fire Guns!

Charged with building a new type of rapid-fire cannon for the United States Navy, Pontiac is now turning out these complicated weapons with ever-increasing speed and efficiency. A new plant is being rushed to completion to increase floor space correspondingly. Our most skilled workmen and the organizations of 233 sub-contractors and suppliers are working night and day, six days a week, to fill this Navy contract—and fill it right. We're in rapid-fire production of the Navy's rapid-fire guns!

Pontiac's 1941 models were by far the most popular Pontiacs ever produced. Now, however, they are superseded by the new Pontiacs for 1942—better, in 15 different ways, than the cars they replace.

Improvements in the new Pontiacs are improvements in engineering design—changes which it was possible to make without interfering with the needs of defense. But the things that have built Pontiac's traditionally high quality over the years—such as electroplated pistons, Tru-Arc Steering and metered flow lubrication—have been retained without change.

Come to see the new Pontiacs soon. We are sure you will agree that Pontiac deserves, more than ever, to be called the Fine Car with the Low Price—the car you can drive for many years to come, if need be!
